

I am writing concerning the wisconsin No Call list. Please, leave it alone. I am a citizen of Wisconsin and signed up on the list. I feel that the No Call List does not go far enough in protecting me from unwanted telemarketing calls. Weakening it would be a step in the wrong direction. I enjoy being able to sleep, eat and work without having to run to the phone just to hang it up again. I am currently pregnant and will have enough to do without answering the phone when I don't need to be answering the phone.

I feel that telemarketers are a nuisance. Even if I were in the market for services that they offered, I would not purchase services from a telemarketer. I would do research, get references and shop around and purchase services from someone that I know is reputable. Other people may feel differently. Those would be the people that don't sign up for the list. This is not mandatory on our part, it's voluntary. I would think that telemarketers would appreciate the No Call lists. It weeds out the people that would say "No" before they even pick up the phone.

Thank-you.

Jennifer Borlick